County tax rate won't rise

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

The Madison County Board passed a $87.2 million budget Wednesday for fiscal year 1992. One member voted against the budget because it devotes $178,000 to a pretrial release program.

The $67.2 million approved includes $18.9 million for the general fund, $34.4 million in the special revenue fund, $2.3 million in debt service funds, $7.9 million in the capital project fund, and $1.9 million each in the enterprise fund and the internal service fund.

The $15,733,606 tax levy approved by the board Wednesday will keep the 1991 property tax rate at or below the 1990 rate of 86 cents per $100 assessed valuation, board members said.

Harold Byers, D-Highland, objected to the expenditure for the pretrial release program.

"We can find $178,000 to take care of criminals but we can't find any money to take care of little children," said Byers. D-Highland, citing the need for a county health department, immunization services and flu shots.

But James Fitzgerald, D-Collinsville, said the program will not always have to rely solely on the county.

Once it is off and running, it would be eligible for state funds and would save the county on jail operation expenses.

Albert Charleston, D-Alton, who chairs the board's judiciary committee, said the program will also benefit from offenders' fees and fines.

Mom recovers stolen truck

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Some logical thinking by a Granite City woman and her son Tuesday resulted in the recovery of a family pickup truck that had been stolen the night before.

Barbara Schrader, 51, and her son, Eddie Jr., 22, took it upon themselves to investigate the theft of her husband's pickup truck. With some ingenuity and the help of an old edition of the Press-Record, they recovered the truck in north St. Louis County.

According to a police report, Edward A. Schrader Sr., 53, of the 2900 block of Grand Avenue reported his red 1978 Ford F150 pickup truck was stolen sometime between 4 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Monday while it was parked on 21st Street near Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300.

After filing the police report, Barbara said she did not feel comfortable about the situation. "I'm a hard-headed Pennsylvania housewife... and I just wasn't going to let this happen," she said.

Open primary in Senate race

Local action undecided

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The state Democratic Party is recommending that no endorsement session be held for the March 1992 U.S. Senate primary election.

Gary LaPaille, state party chairman, said Tuesday the decision was accepted by current U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Belleville, by newly announced candidate and Cook County Recorder of Deeds Carol Moser Braun, and by potential candidate Albert Hofeld, a Chicago lawyer.

The action eliminates Dixon's ability to use the party's mailing system and voter lists, and also allows Democrats throughout the state to support the candidate of their own personal choosing.

Madison County Democratic Central Committee Chairman John Belloff of Madison said he will not know if his group will follow the state party's lead until he can meet with his executive board.

Belloff had no comment about the move, and would not predict what ramifications it may have in the upcoming primary election.

"I don't know why (the state party has chosen this route), but it will be interesting to find out," Belloff said.

Jeff Worthen of Granite City, twice runner-up for Madison County Central Committee chairman, called the move "unusual," but added that he was not totally surprised by the decision.

"This is the first time I can remember the state party not endorsing anyone. I think it creates a wide-open primary," Worthen said, adding that he would not be surprised to see a number of candidates join the race.

Asked if he felt the action would hurt incumbent Dixon, seeking his third six-year term in the Senate, Worthen said, "I think Dixon's record speaks for itself. He would be tough to beat, but there are a lot of unhappy people out there."

Worthen and other party insiders said Dixon upset a lot of his supporters when he left the Illinois Secretary of State office 12 years ago to become a senator.

"People were loyal to him for years and years, but he walked away from the job for his own personal gain... and gave the office away to a Republican," Worthen said.

The Secretary of State controls about half of the state jobs, Worthen said, and the action "rubbed a lot of people the

Maxwell new BAC board chairman

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

Belleville Area College Trustee Ted Farmer expressed disappointment Tuesday he was not nominated for chairman of the board when the trustees chose Bob Maxwell to head the group.

The board of trustees elected Maxwell 4-1 at a special board meeting Tuesday night.

Trustees Kay Bennett, Michael Bowen, Richard Rohrbaugh and Mark Levy cast their votes for Maxwell. Farmer voted no.

Thomas Pratt was not able to attend the meeting because of work conflicts.

Maxwell, public relations director for National Steel in Granite City, will succeed Larry Reinbeck as chairman.

Reinbeck was defeated for the Subdistrict 2 seat on the board by Farmer in the recent election. Reinbeck served as chairman for three years and vice chairman for three years.

"I appreciate your support and look forward to working with everyone for the benefit of the college in the years ahead," Maxwell said.

Maxwell, 48, was appointed to the board in 1990 to replace Van Smith of Belleville who resigned.

Tree of Lights goal is set

Fred McCollegan, Salvation Army advisory board vice chairman, has announced this year's goal of $123,000 for the annual Christmas Tree of Lights campaign.

The announcement was made at the drive's kickoff luncheon sponsored by the Granite City Rotary Club, held Nov. 12 at the Salvation Army center.

Funds from the campaign go to bring holiday cheer to local needy families.

"The needs are so much greater this year, so we need all of you to help us meet our goal," McCollegan told the Rotarians and Salvation Army supporters gathered for the kickoff.

"This year marks the 100th year of the Salvation Army Christmas Kettle," McCollegan said. "For a hundred years the familiar red bucket and the bell ringers have been a part of Christmas for most Americans."

Shoppers will begin to see red kettles and bell ringers starting Friday at area stores and markets.

Counter-top collection cans, sporting Salvation Army and 100th anniversary logos, will also appear throughout this area, giving donors more opportunities to help the Salvation Army raise its goal.

"We are still looking for many volunteers to ring the bells for us this Christmas season," said Dennis Rutter, Christmas kettle manager. "We want groups, service clubs, organizations and individuals to sign up for a day, or for several

Death on high wire accidental

A 35-year-old Venice man, electrocuted on a tower on the Venice riverfront area last month, was apparently attempting to steal copper wire when he connected with a high voltage wire.

Venice Patrolman Michael White testified Wednesday during a coroner's inquest into the death of Ronnie Baker that a small hand saw was found at the base of the tower. White testified that Baker had used the saw to cut down copper wire stretched between two towers. Baker would cut one side, allow it to fall, then climb the opposite tower and cut that wire before claiming it on the ground, White said.

White was dispatched to the high tension electrical tower near Slough Road about 8:25 p.m. Oct. 25 to investigate a man slumped over the tower. White said he had difficulty locating Baker's body but discovered it as Baker's brother and another man arrived on the scene.

White testified authorities are unsure if Baker was acting alone when he was acting alone but found the arrival of the other two men "strange."

Firerighters climbed the tower to remove Baker's body, which had caught on the tower's cross bar about 60 feet in the air, according to a report read by county Coroner Dallas M. Burke.

The coroner's jury ruled the death accidental.

State board seeking delay in filing period

County clerks, already worried over delays in setting legislative districts, are further concerned about a State Board of Elections request to delay candidates' filing periods.

The board is asking the Illinois Supreme Court to give legislative candidates in the March primary six more weeks to file. Candidates now must file their nominating petitions between Dec. 9 and 16.

Election board officials asked their attorney Monday to request that the filing period be set for Jan. 20 through 27.

The request would be part of a

Supreme Court case challenging the redistricting plan approved last month by the Republican majority on the Legislative Redistricting Commission.

"By the time the state board would certify (the delay) would really put us under the gun," Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said.

"With a six-week delay, we can't possibly get all of that prepared. Feb. 6 is the first day of absentee voting. I'd say the absentee ballots will not be available. I don't see how, with objections to petitions and all of that."

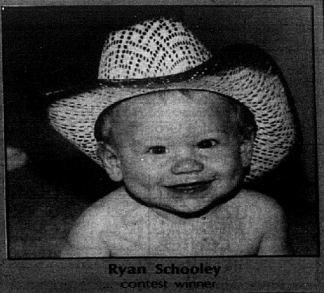

And the winning smile belongs to...

The winner in the Granite City Press-Record "Smile Awhile" contest is 9-month-old Ryan Christopher Schooley. His mother, Kathy Schooley, of Granite City, submitted the winning photo, which was named on 21 of 26 judges' ballots.

Employees at East Side Publications served as judges in the contest. They were asked to select their three favorites from a group of 10 finalists. More than 40 smiles were submitted for the contest.

His mother wrote on her entry, "This smile is a winner because it is a genuine smile that represents the innocence of all children."

Ryan was a free sitting and an 8-by-10-inch photo from City Photo in Granite City. Other photos in the contest are featured on today's Carl R. Chism, 36, of the 2500 block of Madison Avenue was charged with criminal damage to property and two counts of battery when arrested at 2:39 a.m. Nov. 16.

Officers went to the residence in response to a disturbance call and were told by Virginia M. Chism, 64, that her son, Carl, had broken cabinets, knick-knacks and glasses in the kitchen and had refused to leave.

Police noted that furniture was broken at the residence and said that Carl Chism had been fighting with family members.

Chism was remanded to Madison County authorities, and was held on bond set at $10,000.

John D. Weiser, 19, of the 2500 block of Revere's Route was arrested at 7:11 p.m. and charged with unlawful possession of cannabis.

He was later charged with burglary on a felony warrant issued in Edwardsville on Nov. 18.

A pat-down search of Weiser revealed a plastic baggie holding 17 hand-rolled cigarettes, alleged to contain cannabis.

Items located during the search of the home were checked to determine ownership.

Weiser was subsequently charged with the Sept. 25 burglary of Carousell Too.

Weiser was released on his own recognizance.

Christine Cann, 24, of the 2400 block of Logan Avenue told police Cornett pulled her hair and banged her head against a door.

Cornett was not taken to the police station because she was watching four children at the time of her arrest. She was served a notice to appear in court.

Syringe scratches boy

A male resident of the 1600 block of Spring Avenue told police his five-year-old son was scratched by the needle of a hypodermic syringe while playing with a neighbor child Oct. 1.

Tina M. Smith, 37, of the 1600 block of Primrose Avenue, an employee of Anderson Hospital in Maryville, was charged Nov. 13 with unlawful possession of a hypodermic syringe in relation to the incident.

She told police she took the syringe home from work, broke off the needle, and gave it to her six-year-old daughter to play with. She said the needle had not been used prior to bringing the syringe home.

Two charges are filed

Belinda G. Hagopian, 18, of the 2500 block of Sheridan Avenue was arrested at 2:45 a.m. Nov. 13 and charged with battery and resisting arrest. She was also served a warrant charging her with unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Carrie Filter, 25, of the 1100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes told police Hagopian went to Filter's apartment, punched her in the eye, pulled her hair and kicked her.

Hagopian was arrested while walking in the 2500 block of Sheridan and allegedly resisted when an officer placed her under arrest. She was released on a notice to appear in court.

Asbestos has been found at the former Jennison-Wright property in West Granite City.

Virginia Wood of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency said her agency believes the asbestos was disturbed late last year, when a bankruptcy court ordered salvaging of material from the site in order to get as much money as possible for bankruptcy disbursement.

Tom Long, senior toxicologist for the Illinois Department of Public Health, said the disturbance should never have taken place, and because asbestos is "free to blow and roam," the health hazard is significant.

The Venice Board of Education adopted a $602,000 tax levy for 1991. The 1991 levy, for 1992 collection, is $38,000 higher than last year's levy, and is expected to raise the property tax rate slightly. School Board Attorney Mike Billrey said.

Gail Kindle, secretary at Frohardt Elementary School in Granite City, saved the life of 8-year-old Danny Ferguson Nov. 12 when she performed the Heimlich maneuver to dislodge a two-inch chunk of meat that had become stuck in his throat in the school cafeteria.

Ferguson maintained the presence of mind to walk toward Kindle's office, just a few steps away from the cafeteria, when he was unable to dislodge the food from his throat.

Picking up on District 34 United Steelworkers of America President Buddy Davis' lead, U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Belleville, and U.S. Reps. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, and Dick Durbin, D-Springfield, all predicted a Democratic presidential win in 1992.

The Democratic leaders were guest speakers at the Madison County Democratic Party's annual John F. Kennedy memorial champagne dinner Saturday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Davis, who led off the speaking program, referred to President George Bush's labor record — specifically to a proposal for national health insurance, to anti-strikebreaker legislation, and to the unemployment rate — in calling for a change in national leadership.

Michael T. Topal, 26, of the 1400 block of Iowa Street, Granite City, was charged with aggravated battery Monday following an alleged shooting incident in the downtown business district.

John Finke, 25, of the 2800 block of Sunset Drive, was struck in the middle left finger by one of the bullets. He was treated for the wound at the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was released.

The incident, which occurred early Sunday morning near Kilroy's Bar and Grill, 1329 Niedringhaus Ave., occurred on the street after the establishment had closed and did not disrupt business at the bar.

State Police issues report

District 11 Illinois State Troopers handled 1,327 calls for service during October, according to the Illinois State Police in Collinsville.

In October, troopers arrested 83 persons wanted on outstanding warrants and 27 stolen vehicles were recovered.

For the month, troopers made a total of 218 criminal arrests along with 63 arrests for driving under the influence of alcohol and 102 other alcohol-related arrests including illegal transportation of open alcohol in a motor vehicle.

October traffic enforcement statistics show troopers made 2,965 traffic arrests and 2,043 written warnings. One hundred thirty-seven overweight arrests were made with bonds totaling $63,716. Additional traffic enforcement statistics during October show troopers completed 497 motor carrier inspections with 90 drivers and vehicles being placed out of service for safety related violations.

Stage moms get turn in spotlight

By Norma Mendoza
Correspondent

The Mama Rose character in the musical, "Gypsy," gave stage mothers a bad name. She was pushy.

To make up for her own unfulfilled ambition for stardom, she pushed her daughters onto the stage. In real life, both went on to become stars in their own right: June Havoc and Gypsy Rose Lee. But, except in the stage play about them, Mama Rose never got her turn in the spotlight.

Two Granite City women, however, are getting their turn in the spotlight in the ShowTime Express production, "When Dorothy from Oz Meets Alice in Wonderland."

It will be presented at 2 p.m.,

Saturday and Sunday, in the Granite City Eagles' hall at 26th Street and Madison Avenue.

It is one of two live childrens-oriented performances being presented this weekend here. Summerstage is presenting "Rumpelstiltskin" at the Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave., Saturday at 12:30 and 3:30 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. The play is also being presented at 2 p.m. Friday.

In the ShowTime production, Gloria Garcia and Sandy Kozyak will play the respective roles of the Wicked Witch of the West and the Red Queen, two of the several well-known characters from Oz and Wonderland who make up the cast for the show.

Their collective offspring have been on stage frequently in many productions of ShowTime

Express and other theater groups as well as in school performances.

Both moms have dutifully costumed, coached, prompted and supported their budding stars at home and backstage.

Shimkus planning to seek Durbin's Congressional seat

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

While U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin, D-Springfield, celebrates his 47th birthday today, Madison County Treasurer John Shimkus is announcing his candidacy for Durbin's Congressional seat.

Shimkus, a Republican from Collinsville, began a four-stop campaign trip early this morning at Metro-East Lutheran High School in Edwardsville. From there, Shimkus traveled to Quincy, Springfield and Mount Vernon.

Thus far Shimkus has no competition for the Republican nomination. Shimkus said he "called around" and several candidates, all from outside the immediate area, aren't running. Shimkus said he also made a "courtesy call" to Bob Gaffner, a Republican who has made several unsuccessful bids for Congress.

Another possible contender is Jersey County Board Member Dan Moore, who Shimkus said was still undecided when he spoke with him recently.

"It's not something I've taken flippanantly," Shimkus said, "it's been a real tough decision."

Shimkus, 33, who was elected to a four-year term as treasurer last year, said that congressional redistricting has left "many, many people looking for a fiscal conservative ... who wants to get a handle on this budget deficit and start making the tough decisions."

Congressional redistricting splits Madison County between a new 20th District, home to Durbin, and a new 12th District, home to U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville. The 12th District will include Alton, Wood River and the Granite City area, while most of the rest of the county will be in the 20th District. The 20th District will cover more than 200 miles in 19 counties.

Costello's present district includes all of Madison County. Shimkus said politics is going to be the biggest issue in his campaign.

"People are tired of professional politicians who are more concerned with staying in office than with what's going on in this country, like getting a handle on the deficit," Shimkus said.

"They keep enacting laws that prohibit free enterprise and continue to beat up on people who are trying to create jobs."

Shimkus became the first Republican to be elected to a countywide office in 10 years when he upset long-time incumbent Michael "Mick" Henkhaus.

Durbin, who unseated a 22-year incumbent when he was elected to Congress in 1982, is seeking his sixth elective term.

Duke and Madison County

David Duke was on the mind of Madison County Democrats as they got together Saturday for their annual tribute to John F. Kennedy.

Duke is a former American Nazi and former Ku Klux Klan leader. His defeat in his bid for Louisiana governor was pretty much assured by the time the Democrats gathered. But, while this was good news, Duke's campaign had gained national attention and the members of the majority in the Democrats was "Could we have stopped David Duke in Madison County?"

Simple mathematics tell us that Madison County has more descendants of the mob that killed Elijah Lovejoy 154 years ago for publishing an anti-slavery newspaper than there are descendants of Lovejoy himself.

And there is no denying that racism is alive and well in Madison County. Every politician here, black or white, has grinded his or her teeth while racist garbage has been spouted by a constituent or colleague, but kept silent rather than risk political turmoil.

Duke's message is simple black and white: That the members of the majority are being cheated out of their fair share of social programs by welfare mothers who simply breed every time they need money for a new major appliance; and that the members of the majority are being cheated out of employment by unqualified people who take unfair advantage of affirmative-action programs.

While it is true there are mothers who cheat welfare and people who cheat affirmative action, their number is so small that it has absolutely no effect on the township, city or county level, much less the national level. As a result, racist or not, no one really believes eliminating these problems will solve anything.

So why is Duke's message appealing — appealing enough that Madison County Democrats are worried about it? In what has become known as the "Midnight Hour Sermon," Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. pointed out that people, when confronted with problems, don't want to have to think about solutions.

People, he said, want to be emotionally worked up and fired up and able to walk out of church and say, "Preacher, what a great sermon," without having to remember a single word that had been said.

When it came to civil rights, Dr. King said, people wanted to hear that The Man has all the money, The Man controls all the jobs and The Man makes all the laws, so it's not your fault that you can't feed and clothe your family. People, he said, want an excuse, not a solution.

That is the key to Duke's message: The reason times are tough and jobs are scarce is that the government is wasting all of its resources on undeserving and unqualified loafers, leaving the deserving and qualified helpless to do anything about it. It's not your fault, Duke says, that no matter how hard you work it's not going to do any good as long as these things exist.

Faced with voters having the same economic woes as the Louisiana voters, the Madison County Democrats are going to have to offer some solutions. None of the solutions is going to be painless and all of the solutions will require some effort on the part of the voters — voters who might prefer to sit on the front porch, feeling satisfied after being absolved of all blame for everything by a David Duke.

Strong as it is, there is no triumph without a battle. Duke was soundly defeated in Louisiana, but neither he nor his ideas have gone away.

So, like America's founding fathers, the Madison County Democrats must declare, "I have given myself in truth and have vowed to fight, until my last breath, all forms of tyranny. There can be no greater victory than in our cause, and there can be no greater defeat."

During economic downturn, aid Americans, not Soviets

(Guest column by U.S. Senator Alan Dixon of Illinois)

I would like to share with you a statement I made on the Senate floor regarding the proposal to provide the Soviet Union with $1 billion in aid at a time when many Illinoisans and Americans are suffering through a nightmare economic time.

Mr. President, I am generally satisfied with the national defense authorization bill for fiscal years 1992 and 1993.

This bill is the result of the tireless efforts put forth by the members and the staffs of both the House and the Senate.

It is a good defense bill. It reduces our forces in an intelligent manner and does not create a hollow force, as we have done in previous military drawdowns.

Nevertheless, I am very concerned with the language in the bill which permits the president, if he so wishes, to provide the Soviet Union with one billion dollars in aid.

If we can find an extra one billion dollars in this defense budget, why aren't we using it to directly benefit our own people in our own nation?

Let me make it clear that, as an American, I welcome the end of the cold war and I wholeheartedly support the blossoming of democracy in a country which suffered under totalitarianism for so long.

But even so, I cannot understand how anyone can justify giving this kind of assistance to any foreign country when the United States is faced with a serious recession as well as the highest debt in its history.

Americans are losing their jobs. Unemployment compensation is running out. More people than ever before are being forced to rely on food stamps.

It is outrageous to me that we are making foreign aid a priority over domestic aid.

I have spoken about the erosion of the American industrial base on many occasions.

Part of this one billion dollar aid package is to bolster the Soviet Union's industrial base.

What about the United States' industrial base? How can we help the Russians and continue to ignore our own citizens?

I am a strong proponent of charity, but I feel charity should start at home.

If the Department of Defense has an extra $1 billion, then those dollars should be used for our own citizens first.

I recognize that Soviet citizens and industry need some help, but so do United States citizens and industry.

I know I am not alone in the belief that this portion of the bill is wrong.

I do not think the bill should be voted down simply because of this proposed aid to the Soviet Union.

Since the bill only allows and does not require the president to give this one billion in aid to the Soviet Union, I strongly recommend that the president be encouraged not to provide this aid package to the Soviet Union.

Help students, not banks that loan to them

(Guest column by U.S. Senator Paul Simon of Illinois)

A recent national poll showed that 65 percent of adult Americans are worried about whether they will be able to send their children to college or some other form of advanced training.

It has been getting more and more difficult to afford to go to college.

When people don't take advantage of the opportunity to build on their talents, not only do they and their families lose; the nation loses.

The key to productivity and to improving our standard of living is maximum use of our talents.

After World War II, the nation decided that a significant gift to veterans would be to pay their way through college.

Known as the GI Bill, if you were to put an inflation factor on it today, it would average about $8,100 a year in college aid, far above today's college assistance level.

And what was thought of then as a "thank you" to veterans is turning into a tremendous investment in our economy. That GI Bill was available to Americans regardless of income.

Congress now faces decision-making time in higher education.

Will we continue to slip, in our support of students, or will we make an investment in our nation's future? My hope is that we will do something bold.

While the proposals differ somewhat, Congressmen William Ford of Michigan and Tom Petri of Wisconsin and two of us in the Senate — David Durenberger, a Republican of Minnesota, and I — have introduced legislation that would make college available for tens of thousands more students (perhaps hundreds of thousands) and, believe it or not, save money.

Middle-income families, farm families and many others would get some much-needed relief.

The present complicated student aid procedures are inadequate and costly to taxpayers.

This fiscal year, we will spend approximately $3.6 billion to pay for student loan defaults.

The Simon-Durenberger proposal does this:

1) Enlarges the student grant (known as the Pell Grant) by taking the money we now use to subsidize banks on student loans (and it's primarily a few big banks and lenders) and putting it into student grants.

Under our proposal, 470,000 more students from middle-income families could get up to $3,000 a year.

2) Makes student loans available regardless of family income; $6,500 a year for freshmen and sophomores, $8,000 for juniors and seniors, and $11,000 for graduate students.

3) The Internal Revenue Service collects after you finish your schooling, exempting poverty-level income from the pay-back. No one could duck. You would pay back principal, plus interest (Treasury Bill rate estimated at 6 percent, plus 2 percent, maximum of 10 percent).

If at the end of 25 years you have not paid it off, the balance would be written off. Because we charge 2 percent more than it costs the federal government, the federal government will make money in two ways: The loan itself, plus the fact that by going to school you generally increase your income significantly and will pay more in taxes.

The catch in all of this is that the big banks and lenders do not like it. They now get a subsidy of more than $1 billion a year.

We have to make the choice of whether we give that subsidy to the big banks or to the students.

And I don't have a difficult time making up my mind on that.

How deceptive can you be? How could Alderman Miller spend all that time putting an ordinance in shape and then vote against it?

There was a lot of discussion regarding the air quality of Granite City, but not one of the major polluters mentioned.

The people/taxpayers of Granite City are required to endure unknown amounts of solid emissions from Granite City Steel every day. These emissions would, in my opinion, far exceed all the leaf burning.

Don't these certain aldermen know or understand that the polluter of our air in Granite City is not the burning of leaves?

Come on, you on the City Council who voted against that ordinance, wake up. Or should the wake-up call be to the voters who elected these so-called "I know what's best for you" aldermen?

I feel it's time to replace certain aldermen with aldermen who will represent the people, not repress the people.

I left the Council meeting at the end of the vote on leaf burning and missed the "McCarthy impersonation" — but I was there to see Mr. Miller's "Bozo the Clown" act.

RALPH L. ELLIOTT
Granite City

Why alter plan, then reject it?

At issue was: Would the City Council pass an ordinance permitting leaf burning in Granite City?

When the ordinance was first read, several of the aldermen wanted certain amendments. It appeared to me that Alderman Jim Miller was "leading the charge" on the amendments.

He indicated there was indeed a leaf problem and could support burning of leaves under certain conditions.

He spent the better part of an hour making and/or guiding amendments.

When all the amendments were finalized and voted on, all of them passed with at least 10 aldermen voting for them.

Well, what do you think happened when the amended ordinance was voted on? It was voted down. Even Alderman Miller voted against it.

The ordinance had been essentially re-written to include his amendments.

Says bus service hazardous, late

TO THE EDITOR:

I have called Bi-State's main office several times and the responses I have got are far from being courteous.

According to the schedule Bi-State Transit District put a monkey wrench into the (Bi-State) transportation system, our service is something less than dead.

For me, I catch the McKinley Bridge, 19th and Edison bus.

According to the schedule Bi-State gave us, it says the bus leaves 8th and Market at 3:58 p.m. Since the last of August, this bus has only been on time about a half-dozen times. We catch it anywhere from 4:10 to 4:15 every day.

You ask the bus driver about it and nine times out of 10 you will get an answer. Or, if you do, it is a one you don't want to hear.

Some people have to depend on these buses to get to work and from work, and the least they could do is try to be on time.

One last point: Some of these drivers who are late sometimes try to make up their time. And, believe me, some of the hellish rides across the outside lane of McKinley Bridge are frightening.

Two years ago, there was an article in the Press-Record from Bi-State stating that all buses would go down the center of the bridge and only go off the outside in case of an emergency.

I don't like putting my life in someone's hands that I don't trust, and I know of many other riders who feel the same way as I do.

I hope someone from Bi-State sees this letter and tries to correct some of these situations before people get hurt.

Remember God on Thanksgiving

TO THE EDITOR:

I wonder if they'd understand. Those Pilgrim folk, I mean.

After all, Thanksgiving is just around the corner.

And after all, we do trace our long weekend back to their simple celebration.

Now, how does the story go? Oh yes, well, you see, children, there were these religious folks who lived a long time ago. They weren't just religious; they were fanatics.

You know the type, always praying over their food, reading the Bible, going to church like crazy.

Always speaking their mind about stuff that was none of their business.

Well, anyway, they left England because they didn't get along with the king's religion. They sailed to America, jumped onto Plymouth Rock, planted some corn.

They met some Indians, suffered some hard times, had a good harvest, cooked some turkeys, invited the neighbors, and thanked their God for keeping an eye on them.

And that's why we have four days off in a row.

Well, in spite of my irreverent rendition of the Thanksgiving story, there is certainly one thing we can say about those Pilgrims — they were convinced. They not only believed in their faith, they lived by their very lives on the line.

Totally uprooted, totally committed, suffering cold, sickness, despair and death, and yet, with hearts uplifted, possessing a wealth so scarce today; they offered thanks to the Being who is the source of all blessing. "Thank you Lord, yes, thank you."

So I wonder, would they understand? Would they, who crossed an ocean to worship God, understand why we can say about those Pilgrims — they were convinced. They not only believed in their faith, they lived by their very lives on the line.

Would they who watched their children die, understand the wholesale slaughter of the unborn?

Would they hear of Granite City? "Yes, that's where they kill babies."

Would they, who held as heroes men and women of virtue and sacrifice, understand our worship of athlete millionaires who lobby for curbs on diseases born of immorality?

Would they understand? How could they?

But, of course, the question is

Legislators confident of bridge money

The new Clark Bridge between Alton and St. Louis County will reach both sides of the Mississippi River, legislators say.

"In my judgment, it will be there," U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon said, referring to money for the bridge.

Without a federal bridge funding program, the final third of the bridge, the Illinois approach, wouldn't be let for bids, state highway officials said.

Two thirds of the bridge, the middle span and the Missouri approach, are under construction.

The federal bridge program was left out of a Senate bill to extend the federal highway program, but bridge money is in a House version. The two sides are trying to hammer out a compromise bill.

"I'm confident that it will be in the bill, and, if it isn't, I'll be raising hell," U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Bellefonte, said.

He and Dixon were in Madison County for a Democratic Party fund raiser.

Illinois Department of Transportation officials have also said the bridge will probably be completed, but to meet the projected late 1993 opening, the Illinois approach needs to go out for bidding by the end of January.

IDOT had originally planned to take bids next month, but no action will be taken until the federal discretionary bridge funding program is restored. The Illinois approach is expected to cost $20 million. Overall, the bridge is estimated to cost at least $65 million.

Proverbs 10:24 "... the desire of the righteous shall be granted."

There are over eight thousand blessings mentioned in the Bible that are available to the righteous. By association with Christ we are blessed automatically. It is even said that "as many as believe on Jesus," that is, who receive Him as Saviour, "to them He gives the power to become the sons of God."

What is amazing is that a great change occurs in our desires after we accept Christ. In most cases we see less desire of carnal pleasures and more desire for spiritual blessing.

To serve Him, to please Him, to surrender our will to the Will of our Heavenly Father, that is the desire of the righteous. It shall be granted.

May the desires of your heart be granted Today.

days," Rutter said.

"This is a great chance for people to share in the joy of Christmas by doing something to help others," he said.

Salvation Army Capt. Curtis Hartley explained how money is raised each Christmas. "Our Tree Of Lights campaign raises money mostly from the red kettles and from mail-in donations," Hartley said.

"Some people even bring in their donations, just to get a glimpse of the activity at Christmas time."

"We have really got a long way to go this Christmas, especially with the economic conditions as bad as they are."

"We are just trusting in the generosity of the public to help us attain our goal. We are praying that God will bless our efforts, and that we will be successful in raising the funds we need."

The Garcia children, Rebecca, Michael, Nick and Sarah, have also been actively involved in dance and music groups representing their heritage: St. Louis Junior Croatian Tamburitans and the Mexican Honorary Commission folk dancers.

Becky Garcia is attending Iowa State University, but will be home for Thanksgiving break in time to catch her mother's performance.

"They'll all be there," Garcia said. "My husband, Mike, said, 'I may have to work.' I said, 'If you work, I'll take vacation.'"

She added that her nephew and family are also coming from Iowa for her stage debut. She said his children are familiar with the characters in the show and can't wait to see her as the Wicked Witch.

Farmer said he expected to be nominated by the other trustees to chair the board because he is the senior board member.

However, Farmer said if he had been nominated he would have declined to serve as chairman because of stage constraints. He was named Mark Levy of Subdistrict 7 nominated Farmer for vice chairman. But because the nomination did not receive a sec-

Kozak's daughters, Melissa and Rebecca, have both been active in performance, too.

"Becky was a cheerleader and Missy was in Poms," she said. "And they've both been in lots of plays in school and theater groups. And Mom's been to everything!"

She said she never missed a game where they participated in cheering or Pom Poms, or a performance of a play they were in.

"They both encouraged me to be in this," she said. "But Becky said, 'My biggest fear is that you'll want the lead in the next show.'"

Both said they've been teased about being typecast as the witch and the queen.

"Becky said, 'She thinks she is the queen,'" Kozak said. "I was always very shy until I met my husband, Matt. But, he's so outgoing and had so many friends that I forced myself to change."

Subdistrict 4 Trustee Kay Bennett was re-elected vice chairman of the board 4-1, with Farmer voting no.

Shirley Heatherly was unanimously re-elected board secretary.

Maxwell said it would not be difficult to adjust to serving as the chairman of the board.

"I have been on a number of boards and have served here for a year," he said. "The chairman only has one vote like everyone else."

and abandoned it. But that endeavor turned out to be a dead end.

At about 11 a.m., Eddie Jr. suggested that, if there was a rash of mailer thefts, maybe a clue could be obtained in the police log section of an old newspaper.

Barbara then retrieved a recent edition of the Press-Record-Journal, and discovered that an older-model pickup truck, belonging to a Schnuck's employee, had been stolen from the parking lot at the supermarket.

Barbara said Schnuck's and was told the truck had subsequently been recovered from a parking lot at Northwest Plaza.

"They said there was no glass around where that truck had been parked, either, and that it was also taken on a Monday night," she said.

"It all just clicked," Barbara never shy. "And they didn't know me when I was. But, when I do this part, it's like being back in the seventh grade."

Both women said they kept quiet about the play at first.

"At first, I didn't want anyone I know to come because I was afraid I wouldn't do good," Kozak said. "But now, every time someone says they're coming to the show, I say to myself, 'Yeah!'"

"I feel better about it now, too," Garcia said. "We come to rehearsal early and go over our lines so I have more confidence that I won't mess up on stage."

Both said they haven't had time to practice at any other time. They both have full-time jobs and other responsibilities.

"No, we haven't had time," Kozak said. "I'm too busy being wife, mom, cook, hostess, dental assistant and mother of the bride."

Kozak's daughter, Becky, and Ed Cowley were married on Nov. 16, the week before the show, giving her another opportunity to have supporting role to her daughter, the star.

As his first duty, Maxwell appointed the board members to serve on the college's five committees: Farmer, Bennett and Bowen will serve on the Finance Committee; Roehrkasse, Levy and Farmer will serve on the Building and Grounds Committee; Levy, Pratt and Maxwell will serve on the Policy Committee; Pratt, Roehrkasse and Bennett will serve on the Curriculum and Instruction Committee; and Bowen, Levy and Maxwell will serve on the Personnel Committee.

The board will conduct three orientation meetings Dec. 3, 9 and 14.

"We are going to get together as a board to get the new members acclimated to the board," Maxwell said.

"We hit the Interstate, and only had about two-and-a-half hours before I had to pick up my husband from work ... I spotted it on the parking lot from the Interstate."

"It wasn't exactly in the same place (where the other truck was recovered), but it was close."

The truck had sustained some damage to the ignition, and a citizen's hand radio and the stereo had been removed.

But the vehicle was drivable and Edward Sr. drove the truck to work Wednesday.

Barbara said she feels no animosity toward the Police Department, and knows the police can only spend so much time on each case.

"Just call us Dirty Harry and Mean Momma," Barbara said, referring to Eddie Jr. and herself.

Churchich was pleased with the budget, which increased his operating budget by about $8,000 while setting up a separate fund for utilities, food and medical expenses.

Shootout highlights slate early in season

While many veterans will be remembering the 50th anniversary of Pearl Harbor, local high school basketball fans will be descending on Memorial Gymnasium.

Granite City High School will be the center of attention for area fans on Dec. 7. The Granite City Superfans Shootout should get the prep basketball season off to a rousing start. The Warriors will have opened the season the night before against Triad, but this is one season in which the second game is more anticipated than the first.

Bill Ohlendorf's club will be center stage for the featured event of the evening, an 8:30 p.m. clash with Martin Luther King High School of Chicago. The King Jaguars, coached by the flamboyant Landon "Sonny" Cox, are the No. 1 Class AA team in Illinois and one of the top teams in the nation. The obvious hook for this game is the clash between two sets of win towers.

The Warriors, of course, have true "Twins" in 6-9 seniors Jeff and Brian Smith. The Jaguars have 7-0 juniors Rashard Griffith and Thomas Hamilton.

The feeling I get around town is that the Warriors are going to take a whipping that night. But don't assume anything. King's players are just high school kids, too. They might be one of the best teams in the country, but they're capable of being beaten on a given night. This is the chance for Warrior fans to get behind their team early in what could turn out to be a very good season.

Tickets are on sale now at the high school athletic office. Let's say 'em all up and make it a night to remember — win or lose.

It will be a busy day. Granite City will host a freshman wrestling tournament that morning, although it has been moved to one of the junior high schools. The Warrior varsity — which might be the top team in the area this year — is also hosting a quad meet that day against Bloomington, Pekin and Peoria. It'll be moved from noon to 10:30 a.m.

The doors to the main gym will open at 3 p.m. At 4 p.m., the Lady Warriors take on Belleville West. The Maroons are led (See WHALEY, Page 2B)

Sitton scores 2 in 3-3 tie

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Going in, it didn't look good. After a period and a half, it looked very good.

So it was appropriate that the rollercoaster of emotions ended Saturday with a 3-3 tie for the Warrior hockey team in the season opener. Senior Kevin Sitton scored two goals and Derek Zirkelbach added the other one for Granite City.

"We played well, considering we were short-handed most of the game," said Jake Hinterser, who made his high school coaching debut. "Webster Groves had three lines the whole game and we could only play with two."

Forwards Mike Naeve and Craig Wagner were out with injuries, and defenseman Nathan Weaver was out of town, so it became a battle of attrition in the second period.

"We got very tired in the second period," said Hinterser. "We took about five penalties in a row, and that really makes it tough when you're short of players to begin with. Zirkelbach has red hair to begin with, but his face was starting to match his hair with all the skating he did."

GC hockey

Sitton opened the scoring with assists from Rick Whyers and Mike Jaros on the power play. Zirkelbach made it 2-0 on a short-handed goal in the second period as Jaros and Whyers again had the assists.

Webster Groves got two power play goals to tie the game going into the third period, but Sitton scored early on an assist from Mark Nenninger to give the Warriors a 3-2 lead. But Webster Groves tied it with 4:40 left.

"Chad St. Peters was called for checking from behind with 11 minutes left," said Hinterser.

"He got a minor penalty plus a misconduct, so that cost us another player. I thought we might be able to pull it out until then, but then it became anyone's game."

Webster Groves outshot Granite City 30-25, but junior goalie Brent Golden had a good game. Webster had 18 shots in the second period alone.

"I saw some very good signs," said Hinterser. "We were going with two lines and four defensemen most of the way. Chris Goclan and Dave Ezell, in particular, played good defensive games. It felt good to get the tie. Webster has a good team."

Hinterser's goal was to play .500 against out-of-conference opponents, and a tie meets that goal. The Warriors open North Division play Friday with a 9:15 p.m. game against McCluer at the North County rink. The home opener is Monday at 8:45 p.m. (Wilson Park) against Francis Howell, another division foe.

All-SWC soccer, volleyball teams announced

Granite City led the way with five soccer players named to the first team in All-Southwestern Conference voting.

Senior goalie Tim Henson tied Collinsville senior Mike Bolandis in the voting for first-team goal.

Other Warriors named to the first team were senior backs Mark McKeehan and Curt Kessler, junior back Jason Maxfield and junior midfielder Brent Dipel.

The state champion Collinsville Kahoks had three players chosen to the first team along with Bolandis — seniors Matt

Chandler, Steve Van Dyke and Kevin Krieteimyer. Others named to the first team were Belleville West's Kevin Maxim and Brad Weilbacher, and Belleville East's Alex Ramos.

Warrior forward Eric Davis was named to the second team.

In volleyball, the Warriors had three players recognized in conference voting by the coaches. Junior Stephanie Kull was No. 8 among all votegetters and made the second team. Junior Amy Krakowiecki and sophomore Jamie Cavaness were honorable mention selections.

Madison FCA benefit Friday

The Madison Senior High and Madison Middle School's Fellowship of Christian Athletes will present their 10th annual benefit basketball game at 6 p.m. Friday.

Proceeds will go to help needy families at Thanksgiving. The donations requested are $2 for adults (or four canned goods) and $1.50 for students (or three cans). The program goes as follows:

From 6:30 p.m., the seventh grade team will scrimmage the eighth grade team; from 6:30-7 p.m., the Trojanette varsity team will play an intra-squad game; from 7:30, the MHS faculty will play the Venice High School faculty for one half, then the MHS FCA will play the faculty; from 7:30-8 p.m., it will be the battle of the churches, with Mt. Nebo taking on New Salem. After that, FCA members will be handing out turkeys as door prizes to those who have winning tickets. Then from 8:15-8:45 p.m., the Trojan varsity will scrimmage against the junior varsity.

Madison Community District 12 administrators, principals and the district social worker will select the needy families. Anyone with a family in mind should notify Madison High School Principal Robert Melsic at 876-7019 by noon Nov. 25.

There will be three turkeys given away between the church game and the varsity-JV game.

Last year, more than 900 cans were collected and 74 food baskets were given out. Mark Jiles and Charles Steptoe are sponsors for the high school FCA. Huddle. Gladys Steptoe and Al Collins are the sponsors for the middle school FCA.

by senior Marlene Trifienbach, who is merely very good in basketball as opposed to her god-like status in volleyball. Granite City has good talent in senior Karen Sykes, junior Stephanie Kuit and sophomore Jamie Cavness.

Next up at 5:30 p.m. is Lebanon vs. Stanton. Lebanon coach John Schieppie always has the Greyhounds playing an up-tempo game, with excellent outside shooting. They are always one of the stronger Class A programs in the area.

At 7 p.m., Venice will take on Brentwood (Mo.). The Red Devils, of course, are perennial Class A powerhouses and are led this year by 6-7 senior center Marcus Franklin. Brentwood features 6-4 senior Kevin Kulm, one of the top prep players in St. Louis and a major college prospect.

This night is too good to pass up, folks.

In case you didn't notice, St. Louis University High School reached the Missouri Class 5A football semifinals with a 37-14 win over Pattonville on Monday.

So what?
Well, as you'll recall, the Warrior football team travelled to SLUH on Oct. 18 and played a near-perfect game, knocking off the Junior Bills 25-7. SLUH was unbeaten at the time and has still lost only the one game. There are a lot of people in Granite City rooting for SLUH and East St. Louis — the top two teams in the Journal poll — to win large school state titles in their respective states.

The Warriors (ninth in the poll) gave the Flyers one of their toughest games of the season in Week 5, losing 31-19, before manhandling the Junior Bills in Week 7. To see those two teams go to win state titles would make the Warrior season look even better.

SLUH plays Mehlville in one semifinal Saturday. The winner will meet the Jefferson City-Blue Springs winner for the state title in Columbia on Nov. 30. Meanwhile, East St. Louis travels to Tinley Park on Saturday to meet unbeaten Andrew High School in an Illinois Class 6A semifinal at 1 p.m. The Flyers are one game away from their ninth title game appearance and two wins away from their sixth state title. They are in the final four for the 11th time in 14 playoff appearances.

Speaking of football, Eric Stuber doesn't want anyone to forget the 1971 Warriors. When others remember the great GCIS triad teams of the past, Stuber feels that the '71 team he played on has been forgotten.

They were 9-1 and missed out on an undefeated record only because of a missed two-point conversion in a 15-13 loss to Alton. That was a Redbird team which had gone 10-0 the season before.

The 1971 Warriors outscored the opposition 199-66, including a 14-6 decision over East St. Louis. "We were called the best since 1936," said Stuber. "They have been forgotten, too."

Stuber said Don Harris might have been the best high school quarterback he's ever seen. Harris is now an assistant football and baseball coach at the high school.

The '71 gridgers will never again be forgotten here. (Dave Whaley is the sports editor of the Press-Record.)

Open house displays new PVO plant

PVO Foods Inc. held an open house last week to show off its new world headquarters and processing facility in Granite City.

The new facilities, located on West 20th Street, are housed in a newly-constructed 73,000-square-foot building located on a 3-acre lot. The Granite City plant currently employs approximately 80 people.

PVO Foods is a manufacturer and marketer of specialty edible fats and oils to the food industry. Major customers include food service facilities, bakeries, food manufacturers and concessionaires at theaters, fairs and arenas.

Among the PVO's products are liquid and solid frying oils, liquid shortenings for frying, salad oils including soybean, cottonseed, corn and peanut oils, margarines for cooking and baking, a number of specialty oils, fats and margarines for pastries, cookies, pies and other baked products. For the concession industry, PVO makes popping, seasoning and topping oils for popcorn.

The Granite City plant uses state-of-the-art manufacturing and packaging lines, along with a state-of-the-art refrigeration system, that allow the company to boast a 90 percent rate of manufacturing efficiency.

PVO President Donald Black said the layout of the Granite City plant has reduced scrap losses in both production and storage and the new location has also meant dramatically lowered costs for utilities, insurance, taxes, supplies and services.

PVO's brand names include Superfine, Mikado, Creamo, Arcola, Peko, Drewpuff, Luscious Gold, Kakerite and Make-It.

In addition to Granite City, PVO has plants in Carteret, N.J.; Fresno, Calif.; Miami, Fla.; and Tustin, Calif.

Neal Bennett, front left, of PVO talks with Anita Eitneroff as the tour group passes through the storage area of PVO.

"PVO has gained the market share it enjoys today by positioning itself in the marketplace so that (PVO) can efficiently service the smaller operators as well as the large, national distributors," Black said.

The small distributor has been given the ability to order small quantities from a diverse product line while the national firms are able to meet their high volume needs using each of the four PVO plants, he said. The combined yearly production of PVO is more than 550 million pounds. "With state-of-the-art facilities on both the East and West coasts complementing what may well be the finest plant of its kind (in Granite City), PVO provides a complete line of top-quality products and near-you service" nationwide," Black said.

Careful shopping can control cost of athletic equipment

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

Baseball in the summer, football in the fall, basketball in the winter, soccer in the spring. There's a sport for every season and, physical fitness experts are fond of saying, a sport for everybody. For active youngsters, participation isn't limited to just one athletic venue.

While that may be good from the John Locke point of view—"A sound mind and a sound body is a short but full description of a happy state in this world"—it's not such good news for the family pocketbook.

If your young athlete is multi-talented and you're on a tight budget, you better hope they prefer soccer and basketball, the sports requiring minimal, low-cost equipment. Minimum outfit: A $20 to $25 soccer ball or basketball, and a pair of shoes. Footwear for both sports start around $25, although the best-selling soccer cleats are about $40 and the best-selling basketball shoes run about $60 to $65 higher, local sporting goods dealers report.

That means the total bill for either of the sports is about $60 to $90.

Then there's hockey. Jim Corina of The Hockey Loft in Creve Coeur, once calculated that a high school player who purchased only top-of-the-line equipment would spend about $1,700. This shopping list includes an aluminum stick and wood blades, helmet with face cage, a wide assortment of pads for the shoulders, elbows and elsewhere, and skates. If the player is a goalie, add $1,300 for a pair of professional-style goalie pads.

However, by picking only mid-priced items, that total can be reduced to about $750 for a player who isn't a goalie. With the exception of golf, which is the domain of much older children, "hockey is the most expensive sport by far," says Jeff Kinnikin, manager at Earl's Sports in Fairview Heights, Ill.

The low cost of soccer certainly has something to do with the popularity of the sport, observes Don Fischer, vice president of Fischer's of Florissant. But, he adds, "if the sport doesn't have appeal to the participant, they won't continue with it."

Keeping your youngster athletically active can pay a dividend that's worth more than the cost of the equipment, says The Hockey Loft's Corina. The dividend: Young athletes have little idle time on their hands so they're less likely to run with troublemakers or to consume drugs and alcohol.

An athlete's commitment to his sport can be intense. Several young players who wandered into The Hockey Loft on Halloween last year told Corina they had no intention of trick-or-treating, and instead were looking forward to that evening's practice session.

The main problem with outfitting a youngster, the retailers say, is the equipment usually lasts only a year because the child outgrows it.

Parents can't avoid that trap by purchasing extra large soccer shin guards, say, or basketball shoes. Proper fit is the most important thing," says Bill Hopfinger, a physical therapist who specializes in sports injuries.

If the shin guards are too large, they'll twist in the sock, providing little or no protection when the youngster is competing with others for possession of the soccer ball, he says. Shoes that are too big lead to ankle injuries.

Hopfinger also recommends matching the shoes to the playing conditions. Soccer players who insist on wearing their outdoor cleats while playing indoors risk ankle injury. So parents of year-round soccer enthusiasts "probably need to spend $40 on another pair of shoes," he says.

While sports equipment can be expensive, parents can control the cost by buying moderate-priced items. Instead of that $100-plus leather ball glove, the parent can nudge the youngster to a lower-priced model. The function of the ($100) glove is no better than a glove half its cost, Fischer says.

Where parents encounter a problem is with fashion. A youngster might insist they need the $120 Air Jordan basketball shoe, even though another Nike model can be had for half that price.

Sometimes, though, it is the parent who opts for the high-ticket equipment. At that price, they reason, these hockey pads must offer even more protection than the lower priced item. "It's like buying an insurance policy," he says.

Medical office building nears completion

The new 37,500-square-foot, three-story brick and steel structure next to St. Elizabeth's Medical Center in Granite City will be nearing completion by the end of the year.

"From the announcement on May 9, 1990, that SEMC was planning a new building, to the recent bricking, everyone has worked hard to meet the completion schedule."

"Several suites should be completed and open Dec. 31," said Jack Grieves, SEMC vice president.

"Everything seems to be on schedule at this time."

Physicians are continuing to see patients in the Tri-Cor Building. However, the entrance drive will not be reopened until after most physicians have taken residence in the new building.

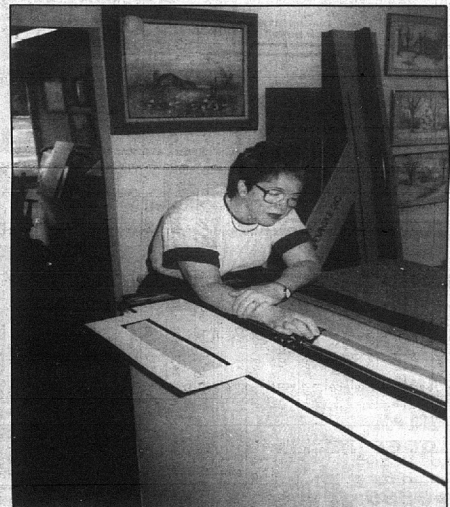

"Between the parking garage and the new building, the pavement area will contain several short-term drop-off parking spaces for the convenience of individuals using the new office building," Grieves said.

The parking garage booth and gate will also be placed in this area.

"We have really appreciated the cooperation from physicians located in the Tri-Cor Building," Grieves said.

"Even though we tried very hard not to disrupt their offices, there has been the need to change their office schedules at times. The physicians have been great about working their schedules to help the construction process."

"Upon completion, the building will be about 80 percent occupied," he said.

GC Realty completes its first closing

Granite City Realty, 4700 Nameoki Road, which opened its doors for business on Oct. 8, held its first home closing Friday, Nov. 8, at Midwest Title Co. in Edwardsville.

"Sales are great, and the listings keep coming in," said broker Charlie Palus.

Brenda Phillips, an agent said, "It just takes time for the public to know who you are, and where you are, but the word is out, and our business is expanding daily."

Granite City Realty could be called "The New Kids on the Block," Palus said, but those who have had the opportunity to do business with any one of the agents, know they're not new to the game.

Palus said the staff at Granite City Realty is widely known to the public and all members belong to the Multi-Million Dollar Club, with home closings signifying over $12 million in sales for the year of 1990. Agents at Granite City Realty are Charlie Palus, broker, and Brenda Phillips, Burel Schmisser and Brian Meehan. Credit needs to be awarded for the quick and speedy closing of the first home to Jim McCart, loan officer for MPS Mortgage Co., for his efficiency and professional manner, Palus said.

MPS Mortgage Co. and Midwest Title Co. is owned by Wally Gorski.

Gateway BPW receives 'Legislative Overview'

An introduction of Board of Education candidates began the October meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women at Jerry's Cafeteria. It followed an informal social in the banquet room.

Featured speaker for the dinner meeting was BPW State Legislative Chairman Diana Pace, whose talk was titled "Legislative Overview."

Pace distributed educational fact sheets while speaking briefly on each issue. Legislative efforts at the grassroots level provide the source of a national organization's clout, Pace said. "Education means knowing the issues on all levels."

As an example of this "clout," Pace acknowledged that BPW/USA National Executive Director Pat Taylor recently received an invitation to speak on behalf of working women to the Senate Judiciary Committee investigating women's legislative concerns.

In addition to that invitation, Taylor had also been interviewed by Time magazine for its recent article addressing sex and politics.

Pace reviewed actions taken across the country by local organizations like the Deep Excavating legislative programs. The Starkville (Miss.) BPW, she noted, attained a national award by arranging an "Ole Fashioned Politickin' Day" in conjunction with Starkville's 150th anniversary celebration. This was the only political rally of its kind in the area and attracted more than 33 state and local legislators.

Because the percentage of single-mothers, one-income family prototype is being born, Pace said, "The legislative platform adopted this past July becomes increasingly important."

She listed the five action items specifically: pay equity, violence against women, reproductive freedom and family planning, equal educational opportunities, and affordable, quality dependent care and health care.

One statistic based on wage discrimination stands out, Pace emphasized. She quoted a recent study announcing that "Full-time women workers earned only 64.3 cents to every dollar earned by men based on annual salaries." Her handout stated clearly that "to achieve a fully sex-integrated workforce, 39 percent of all women would have to change jobs," according to a U.S. Census Bureau study.

In writing to members of Congress, Pace advised members to write their own views in a personal letter. "Give your reasons for taking a stand and 'be constructive,' she stressed. Compliments when deserved will enable representatives in both Houses to help shape legislative views. "If you have expert knowledge, share it with your congressmen," she said.

The speaker concluded with a 10-point quiz listing statistics involving violence against women, taken from Jan Statman's book The Battered Woman's Survival Guide. One alarming statistic quoted mentions that "fifty percent of America's women are safer on the street than they are in the 'comfort' of their own homes." Women are "in greater danger of assault, violence, injury and sexual abuse from strangers than from family members," Pace concluded.

At the St. Elizabeth's Castillo following an induction ceremony to welcome new member Victoria Vasileff. Membership Chair-

Getting together at the recent Gateway BPW meeting are: Gateway president Ollie Derr; Pat Taylor, national BPW president; and Ruth Nicholas, Gateway treasurer.

Man Gloria Druhe noted the group's treasurer, Wilma Scott, presented proposed changes to the club bylaws and announced a policy meeting at her home.

Speaking for Eleanor Kelley, Ways and Means chairman, the group's treasurer, Wilma Scott, reported receipts of $844 for the scholarship fund, with an additional $310 coming from Famous-Barr from the recent club-sponsored Leslie Fay Brunch held at the Galleria Famous.

Legislative Chairman Lil Marzulli thanked her committee for an informative program. Jane Isenbarg, public relations chairman, urged members to notice the excellent newspaper coverage of reported articles.

Briefly

Christian Scientists give thanks

With roots dating back to harvest festivals in England and other nations, Thanksgiving's religious significance began with the Pilgrims holding their first formal Thanksgiving Nov. 20, 1621.

Christian Scientists continue this tradition of expressing gratitude to God for his loving care as the basis of their Thanksgiving Day service.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., will hold its guest service at 10 a.m. Nov. 28 and invites the community to attend as guests. There will be no collection, and child care will be provided.

The special service will include readings from the King James Version of the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mark Baker Eddy. There also will be spontaneous sharing of the spiritual healing that has come to individual Christian Scientists from their practice of this religion.

Church plans special dinner

"Thanksgiving — Thank God!" will be the theme at the first annual Thanksgiving dinner at the Revival Outreach Center (ROC) 2100 Cleveland Blvd. The dinner will begin at 6 p.m. Sunday in lieu of the Sunday evening worship service.

Potillo reminded the ladies that Santa's Mini Mail will be held Dec. 7. Office training for U.M. Women will be held at Bethel AME in East St. Louis.

All are invited to attend the community-wide Thanksgiving Service at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road. The guest speaker will be Dr. Lewis Trotter of the First Presbyterian Church.

The Esther Circle was the host for the evening. Decorations were handmade turkeys on each table.

Legion visits nursing home

Venice-Madison Unit 307, American Legion, held a bingo party for the residents of Colonial Haven Nursing Home on Nov. 6. Quarters were given as prizes and punch and cookies were served.

Those helping at the party were Dorothy Hinson, Catherine Buechele, Melba Duncan, Bette Nugent and Pauline Messinger. The group plans to entertain every other month at Colonial Haven and the Colonnades Nursing Home.

Holy Family discusses more classrooms

Holy Family Parish School Association held its monthly meeting Oct. 28 in the school cafeteria.

The meeting was opened by Rosa Santini, chairman, with a prayer led by the Rev. Bill Fisherkeller, pastor. The minutes from the last meeting and the treasurer's report were approved.

Fisherkeller gave the pastor's report. On Nov. 13 bids were to be made on the construction of two additional classrooms to be built for the 1992-93 school year. The rooms will follow the architectural design of the existing building.

Sister Angeline, principal, reported that the school principal, Cindy Gavilsky, the program, "Rainbow for All God's Children" will be begun. This program is designed to help children in single parent families, those going through a divorce or remarriage. It is mainly peer support with an adult present as the facilitator. Adult volunteers are needed to assist in an in-service training session on Nov. 9.

The School Board should be ready for an advisory meeting in January. A few members of the Development Committee have rewritten the long Range Planning Committee's recommendations into goals and objectives, the new step in its existence. The school's fund-raiser started Nov. 7 with the children selling "World's Finest Chocolate."

Prize deadline dates were presented. Marge Ash, chairman-elect, reported that a person a musician, will perform a 45-minute program on Dec. 23 for the children's Christmas party. Athletic Chairman Scott Oney said at the last conference meeting in Altan roles were voted on and officers were elected. Basketball league play will begin in December. The eighth-grade boys will participate in the city basketball junior high tournament in November, to include Holy Family, St. Elizabeth, Coolidge and Grigsby.

The 50/50 winner was Diane Kramer. Diane Harrington won the door prize, a wooden cat painted for Halloween.

After the meeting a program on "Intensive Phonics" was given by Charlotte Lockert. Refreshments were served by the fifth and sixth grade parents of Sister Mary Stanley and Mrs. Webb's classes.
